NOMINATE BUSINESS MEN

There is a growing feeling around the city that business men, who have had plenty of experience in various lines of business, and who have been meeting with success, are the men who should be nominated for the public offices in Alma this year.

Alma has much to do during the next two years. It is a matter of vital importance that this work be done, that it shall be done right and that it shall be done at the lowest price consistent with good work. The municipal improvements that are taken care of this coming two years will go far to determine the future of Alma.

There are many such improvements contemplated, many of which are highly necessary for the future growth of the city. There must be watermain extensions, sewer extensions, paving, etc., and other important city work. A city cannot properly expand if it does not keep pace with the municipal improvements that are needed, especially watermain and good sewage. They must be had, that the health of the community may be protected.

Business men of discernment, who can take advice as well as give it, and who will see that there are not such balks in bonding issues as there were two years ago, are the men Alma must have in office as her mayor and as her commissioners.

"GOOD ROADS AMENDMENT"

The taxpayers of Michigan have spent millions of dollars in road building in years past but our roads generally are a disgrace to the state. Much of this money has been wasted because of construction under supervision of men inexperienced in road building and because roads have not been kept in repair even when properly built in the first place.

On April 7 a "Good Roads Amendment" will be submitted to the people which has received the unanimous vote of the State Senate and House of Representatives. Every county will benefit by the passage of this amendment which authorizes the state to bond for highway purposes.

The proposition has been strongly endorsed by farmer organizations as well as boards of trade and labor organizations, in fact reports from throughout the state indicate that there is no organized opposition to the amendment, but that it is meeting with general favor.

Agricultural counties such as our own will receive the greatest benefit. The expense of hauling produce to market is greatly lessened by good roads. It is to the interest of every citizen of Gratiot county to boost for the "Good Roads Amendment." Vote "yes" yourself and get your neighbors to do the same.

WE DON'T BACK UP

It has come to the attention of the Alma Record from several sources this past week to the effect that Mr. Fullerton is denying and refuting the statements or insinuations attributed to him in last week's Record regarding the ability of A. J. Archer to legally hold the office of commissioner, if elected.

The Alma Record is able to prove that such insinuations were made regarding the eligibility of Mr. Archer to do so, and prove them by the word of responsible business men of the city.

CIVIC LEAGUE NOTES

In accordance with a long standing custom the league is pushing the sale of trees, shrubs and plants, with Mrs. J. E. Fuller (Union phone No. 270-2R) as chairman. Young home-keepers are especially urged to begin at once to render their property more desirable and attractive by "planting, planting, planting," and then consider the appearance from your own and the city's viewpoint, and plant some more! Fruit trees are really needful and just now is a good time to make your selections. A new price list has been received and is in the chairman's hands, who is sure you can save money by phoning to her.

FISH AND GUN CLUB BANQUET

The Alma Fish and Gun club members, who own a little cottage all of their own on the banks of the Manistee river, held a duck supper at the Wright House Thursday evening, where a most enjoyable time was spent by the men. At the meeting they decided to enlarge their "shack" this year by constructing a 14x28 addition. Among those who attended the "feed" were J. W. Blakely, A. A. Chick, J. C. Chick, William Ambury, Jake Eggleston, Milton Holmes, Dr. J. N. Day, Paris Robinson, C. O. Ward, A. Beeson, Ollie Hayes, Ernest Seig, and Floyd H. Glass.

HOLDS KNITTING RECORD

It is said that Mrs. Harry Rockwell of this city holds the knitting record for this section of the state during the war. During the period of the war when the Alma branch of the Red Cross was at work Mrs. Rockwell spent over 2,000 hours in knitting for the soldiers. It is not believed that another worker will approach this number of hours.

LETTER FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

SENATE ADOPTED McNAUGHTON'S
RESOLUTION TO BOND STATE
FOR $5,000,000 FOR TERM
NAT. WAREHOUSE.

FARMER MEMBERS FORCE ISSUE

Resolution to Submit a Constitutional
Amendment For Cities to Operate
Fuel Yards Adopted By Senate.

By William Lee Calnon.

Lansing, Mich.

By a vote of 25 to 5 the state senate has adopted the McNaughton resolution to submit an amendment to the constitution to bond the state for $5,000,000 for the building of terminal warehouses. The matter will be submitted at the election in November, 1920, provided the house of representatives concurs with the senate in its passage.

The senate vote was a victory for the farmer members, as they dictated the compromise by which it was taken. The warehouse plan was shelved about a month ago, apparently for the season. It was feared it would not in the way of the good roads bonding amendment. The farmer members liked the idea of the warehouses so well, however, that they banded together to make another effort for it. They had more than a one-third vote in the senate, while a two-thirds vote is required to pass a constitutional amendment. So they notified the other senators that if the warehouse resolution was not passed they would prevent the passage of any other resolution.

Supporters of the amendment to raise salaries of the supreme court justices gave in and agreed to support the warehouse plan in return for support of the salary amendment. As soon as the senate had adopted the warehouse plan 25 to 5, the court salaries amendment resolution was taken off the table and adopted by a vote of 26 to 4.

The senate also has adopted the resolution to submit a constitutional amendment to allow cities to establish fuel yards. The house committee on constitutional amendments, however, already has definitely killed this amendment, as offered in the house, and the senate amendment now has gone to it.

The house committee also has killed off four other proposed amendments. One was that every voter must be able to read and write the constitution in English. The second provided for compulsory voting. The third would give counties the right to have commission forms of government. The fourth aimed to have the present elective state officers appointed by the governor.

The calendars of the senate and house have assumed mid-session size, with committees now working at full speed and reporting out large batches of bills daily. The house has definitely gone on record in favor of a business adjournment of the session on March 25. While the senators do not believe the work can be finished by that time both houses are trying to speed up, to finish as close to the date as possible. Thus far each house is considering, to a large extent, its own bills. The most important bill recently to go through both and reach the governor is that which extends the term of office of the state insurance commissioner from two years to four years.

The senate, in adopting the appropriation bill for the boys' industrial school in Lansing, allowed $50,000 extra for new expenses. One of these, estimated at $15,000 a year, is to supply each boy with one-half ounce of butter and one pint of milk daily. At present they get no milk and butter. The senate also has received a bill to allow $600,000 for a new building for the boys' school. The sale of the property of the school in Lansing already has been authorized. Its value is estimated at $1,000,000 or more. Of the sum realized from this sale the school may also use $700,000 on its new institution, out in the country. This will give it a $1,300,000 establishment.

The Weidenfeller bill to create an emergency fund of $100,000 to be at the disposal of the governor for use in time of public emergency, epidemics or disasters has been favorably reported to the house. Also favorably reported are the compensation and budget bills, both based on the reports of commissions which were authorized by the last legislature. The budget bill already has passed the senate.

Several changes in the township laws affecting townships that have an assessed valuation of ten millions or more are proposed in bills introduced in the house. One would allow such townships to raise and spend as much as $25,000 a year on ordinary and contingent expenses. Another would allow a clerk for the supervisor in such a township. Still another would allow four assessors for such a township.

TAKES AGENCY

Frank F. Smith, who for the past several years has had the agency for the Pathe photographs and records in this city, has now taken over the agency for the Kimball photographs, which he will handle in the future, together with the Pathe machines. He will continue at his present quarters at the A. R. Smith shoe store. Announcement advertisement will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Advertise in the Record.

To carry into effect the road building program that would follow the adoption by the people in the April election of the proposal to bond the state for a sum not to exceed $50,000,000, Senator Herbert E. Baker, of Cheboygan, has introduced a bill in the senate whose ultimate fate will depend on whether or not the people adopt the bonding proposition.

The Baker bill would place the road building work of the state in charge of the state highway commissioner, two deputy commissioners and an advisory board of five members, the latter to be named by the governor. The salary of the highway commissioner would be set at $7,500 a year; the deputies, at $3,500 a year each. The advisory committee members would get $10 a day each for actual time put in. The entire commission would have complete power over all the roads of the state and decide the expenditure of the money derived from the sale of state bonds. Not more than three members of the advisory committee could belong to one political party and one of the five would have to be an upper peninsula man.

Bills have been introduced in both houses which would allow the Detroit school board to take over the Detroit College of Medicine and Surgery and make it a part of the city school system, with the board of education empowered to issue diplomas to graduates. At present the school board really is running the college, but of legality it is in charge of a board of trustees. The Detroit board also wants the law changed which limits it to 4 per cent interest on bonds issued for building purposes. It is unable to sell bonds which it has behind several proposed school buildings now badly needed, because it cannot pay interest enough to attract investors.

A market for road district bonds in the banks of the state, another variety of bonds which there has been some difficulty in marketing, is provided in a bill which has been passed by the senate. This bill permits banks to purchase such bonds. The present banking laws prescribe the kinds of bonds banks may own, but were written before road district bonds were invented, hence the necessity of a new law to include the new bonds.

Public utility legislation is beginning to loom large at this session. Several measures have been proposed to extend the control of cities over utility companies. Now Rep. DeLoe, of Alpena, has introduced a bill to establish a public service commission for the state with complete power over all public utilities, the state taking control instead of cities. The bill would abolish the state railroad commission and transfer all its powers to the new commission, besides enlarging the powers and scope of the new body to a greater degree ever known in Michigan. The utility companies are caught between the increasing desire by cities for municipal ownership and regulation and by the demand for more stringent state regulation. Their usual contention is that they welcome regulation, but want to know where it is coming from, and that unregulated operation by either public or private control cannot succeed permanently.

Just what attitude the legislature will take on the whole matter of utility companies is not yet certain. It is probable that several big public hearings will be had at which sentiment may be developed after hearing the arguments advanced.

Senator Bierd and Rep. Martin have introduced Gov. Sleeper's bill for a state park commission to establish a system of state parks. An allowance of $100,000 a year for the next two years is made for the purchase of property. The commission is to consist of ten members, to serve without pay, but with expenses allowed. The commissioners would have ten year terms, with the first commission including two members with two year terms, two with four years, two with six years, two with eight years and two with ten years.

The eight-hour day bills before the house, on which the largest public hearing of the session was held, will go over to the next legislature for determination if a bill introduced by Rep. Smith, of Port Huron, goes through. This provides for a commission of nine, named by the governor, to investigate the subject of hours of labor by workers of Michigan and to report to the 1921 legislature.

Rep. Bramer has introduced a bill to allow township clerks to sell hunting licenses. Rep. Mol would have game wardens who have served six years or longer paid $5 a day by the state. Rep. Wiley has put in a bill to have county road commissioners appointed by boards of supervisors instead of being elected to office.

The house had a couple of sharp tiffs over the first salary raising bill that came along on its calendar, the advocates of no increases suffering defeat by votes of 57 to 35. The increases allowed are for supervisors to get $5 a day for attending meetings and $4 a day for making highway tax assessments.

WOOD IS RETAINED

E. M. Wood, the well known Alma architect, has been retained by the school board of Grand Haven to draw plans and specifications for a new $125,000 high school to be constructed in that city this summer. He will also superintend the construction work.

The school which is to be built will be of re-inforced concrete and will be fireproof. It is expected that the building operations will be started in May.

ALMA'S FUTURE

Many Improvements Planned for the Campus.

Most American colleges of a generation or two ago were in the habit of considering the location of each particular building when the structure was about to be erected. There were, however, some institutions that had the foresight to make the proper survey of their grounds and to consider the location of each building as a very important matter. Indeed in a properly devised architectural scheme, each building must bear a very definite relation to each other building. The plans of the first building erected will be affected by the location of the second building; but will also be affected by the location of the forty-second building to be erected years afterward.

The Alma College Board of Trustees realizes that the institution has in many ways reached its capacity. When the need of a new science building was discussed as well as additional library room and a new gymnasium, the wisdom of the Board dictated that consideration should at once be given to a comprehensive building plan that would cover the development of Alma College for the next twenty-five years or more, and provide a beginning for whatever development might come after that time.

Perkins, Fellows and Hamilton of Chicago, a leading architectural firm of America, was employed. The heads of the firm made various visits to Alma studying the grounds and the needs of the College. The plan that hangs in the president's office is the result of the out-growth of these visits.

In general it may be said that the block on which Pioneer Hall, the administration building and the gymnasium now stand, is to become the men's residential quadrangle. The Oxford unit system of dormitories is to be operated. There will be about twenty men to each section, and the plan calls for fourteen sections, and for the eventual removal of the buildings now on this block.

The main academic buildings will be on the high ground toward and including the tennis courts. Davis Field will be made to run north and south instead of east and west as it now does, and will extend farther back, reaching the edge of the Jungle.

The Chapel will stand at the north end of the long axis of the academic quadrangle, and will be inside the present limits of the athletic field.

As the plan contemplates the closing of Philadelphia avenue, and the purchase of sufficient land on the south side of Superior street to make our western limit on that side the same as the western limit on the north side, (the line beyond the tennis courts to be extended southward, in other words), there will be erected on the southern end of the main axis of the academic quadrangle, a Commons, which will be the social center and dining hall for the whole institution.

Across (the abandoned) Philadelphia avenue from Wright Hall, on the lots now occupied by the president's residence, an additional girls' dormitory practically duplicating Wright Hall, will be erected.

Facing south from the Chapel, the observer will look straight down the main axis of the academic quadrangle to the Commons.

The first building on the left will be the new library building.

The second on his left will be the new administration building.

Across Superior street on his left will be the present Wright Hall.

On his right will be the new gymnasium, and still beyond, the new Science Hall.

Other buildings may be provided for to the east and to the north of the chapel building.

The scale of buildings to be erected may perhaps depend somewhat on the generosity of the friends of the college. Just now, with the prices of buildings somewhat unsettled, it is difficult to make exact statements, but the Science Hall is expected to cost from $100,000 to $125,000. Each section of the men's dormitories will cost from $15,000 to $22,500. The library may be expected to cost a minimum of $50,000.

The gymnasium will probably require in these days an expenditure of from $75,000 to $100,000. The Chapel planned will approximate $50,000.

The plan contemplates at a later date a gymnasium for women which will be located in close proximity to the women's dormitories.

KAZOO WINS

College Loses Important M. I. A. A. Game at Celery City.

A new one was pulled on the Alma college basketball team at Kalamazoo Saturday night in the nature of the finest little six man defense that the locals have ever bumped against in basket ball. In fact it was the first good six men defense that the Maroon and Cream had run against, and the Presbyterian five, unable to solve it, went down to a 22 to 11 defeat, the first association defeat that Alma has suffered.

Referee Warren was the sixth man in that great Kalamazoo defense. It is not the desire to claim that Alma was robbed of the game, but it is a certainty that his poor eyesight played havoc with the attempts of fighting the ball into the Kalamazoo basket. It was mostly out of bounds when Alma got it around the Kazoo netted ring, giving the champs a chance to have a free throw and get the ball away from their goal. It was a striking feature to the Alma men, that when the ball was under the Alma basket with the players fighting for its possession, it very seldom was out of bounds, giving the city city artists every chance for their goals.

To top this portion of the work off, Forest Smith and Anderson were both chased from the floor. Anderson was put out of the game on four personal fouls, while Smith was chased for doubling up his fists. No, he didn't hit anyone, as the official admitted after the game, when he said, "You doubled your fists just like that," which Smith in T. N. T. tones claimed was not true. Even if it were, and granting that it was, why should Smith have been chased? This no crime to double up the fists, as the official called them, unless they are forcibly used.

The game was a hard fought one from start to finish, and fighting against the Kalamazoo team and in spite of poor officiating the locals did not lose heart, but fought back in good style. Even after the veteran Anderson was sent to the sidelines, the Alma team kept up its fight.

The Kalamazoo players had been coached to keep Alma from getting a clear shot at the basket from the field, even though it must be at the expense of personal fouls. Of the fourteen fouls which were called on Kazoo, thirteen were personal ones. In the second half Emerson in an attempt to keep Smith from scoring put over his fourth personal foul and was sent to the sidelines, after an argument. Time was taken out for a few minutes that Warren might decide carefully, if Emerson had these fouls, Hoekstra and Wattles each had three personals, and McKay each had two each. Had the game lasted a few minutes longer it is probable that the forward and center would have landed on the sidelines.

While the Maroon and Cream five fought hard, the men fought a clean game from start to finish, and deserve the commendations of the fans. The result of this game gives them an uphill fight to win an undisputed title, and it means that the fans must pull just that much harder for the team. Alma must down, Hillsdale and Adrian to get the championship, undisputed. By winning one, and losing one, the best that Alma can do will be to tie Kalamazoo for the honors.

THE THEATRE

The Idlehour

Friday night there is a double program at the Idlehour when Dorothy Gish is shown in "The Hope Chest" with "Fatty" Arbuckle in "The Sheriff." Dorothy is a ragtime comedienne with all the pep of a jazz band, and she's a character actress too. Some combination, but she's there both ways and that's one of several reasons why "The Hope Chest" is a winner.

They keep out of the rut by doing pretty nearly everything just a little bit differently. The cameraman shoots from unexpected angles, Dorothy and Richard Barthelmess don't make love like ordinary movie folk. Sam de Grasse shows something new in the way of a millionaire father who tries to get his son out of an "unfortunate" marriage and George Fawcett as a cheap vaudeville actor is the most genuine two-day comedian that ever jumped a board bill.

This is the first showing in Alma of "Fatty" Arbuckle in "The Sheriff" and it is up to Fatty's standard of real comedy with plenty of laughs. Mabel Normand, who is known wherever mirth is, never was funnier than in her latest picture, "A Perfect Day" which comes to the Idlehour Sunday. As a boarding house slave, a traveling saleswoman, a diving girl and an alleged jewel robber, Mabel gives more of her joyous self than in any of her recent comedy successes. Her figure is her fortune, and the whole blamed town turns out to see her. When Mabel dives and dips there's big things on the beach.

On Tuesday Crane Wilbur, who has not been seen here in some time, makes his debut as a Triangle star in "Unto the End." This is an excellent feature and sure to please.

Madge Kennedy has a brand new role in "A Perfect Lady" Wednesday. She is Lucy Higgins, alias Lucille Le Jambon, a burlesque songstress, who is a "perfect lady" admits and proves it. There's plenty of action in this feature. Fact is, all speed records are shattered. It's the best comedy-drama in which adorable Madge Kennedy has ever appeared.

The Idlehour is certainly living up to its motto of "Always a good show."

RED CROSS NOTES

Wanted—Though Red Cross women to knit 100 pairs women's stockings, 10 shawls and 15 sweaters. Do we hear some one say "Why I thought we were all through doing Red Cross work, what is there to do?" We may almost say "more than ever before." Call at the R. C. room any afternoon and ask for Mrs. Harry Rockwell; she will supply you.

Directions for knitting the shawls: Cast on 100 stitches on two number 3 Red Cross needles and keep on knitting until the shawl is square.

During March there is to be a tremendous drive for clean used garments, for the refugees use. 10,000 tons are asked for and Alma women must ransack trunk and closet and be ready to supply the needed quota.

Mrs. Ralph King is chairman of the Belgian Relief campaign. This work has been resumed in compliance with the request in a recently received cablegram, which made known the direful destitution of the Belgians.

A communication from the Central Division Headquarters makes urgent appeal not to close Red Cross rooms under the present conditions. It is most necessary to have open headquarters every day.

Last week a hint was thrown out regarding the necessity of the Red Cross Magazine being more largely in circulation. This work of getting subscriptions is being put on in the form of a "drive," which will begin at once, with the secretary, Mrs. Day, as chairman. The quota for Gratiot county chapter is 461 and at present only 26 magazines are taken. Only $1.00 a year to members of the Red Cross.

SERIOUS CHARGE

Hobart Lowery, said to hail from Coleman, was arrested here the fore part of the week on a charge of debauching and depraving the morals of boys under fifteen years.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace William H. Rogers Monday. He stood mute and the court entered a plea of not guilty for him. He was bound over to circuit court to await trial.
